News From Our TOWN HALL

"A Year For Doing," this 1946! Some dimes gotta be done about: WATER—SEWAGE DISPOSAL—STREET NUMBERING—BUILDING CODE—ZONING—STREET PAVING—and many more things a growing city needs.

Something must be done about some additional housing in the Community. It's getting down to where people are looking for a room—and can't find it.

Your occupational licenses are due and payable to the City. Your taxes are due and payable and you can still get a discount by paying them before the New Year.

Our rejuvenated police force has received their new Brown belts, with all the gildagets. We should be proud of our force, because of its neat appearance as well as its work.

Laymen Enjoy Dinner

A most delightful and enjoyable dinner function was staged by the new organization, Laymen of the Community church, at the church parlors, Wednesday night, December 12, when 40 men were seated about the tables. The church ladies served a delicious dinner by candle light, and this was followed by a program, over which W. A. Tebrake was master of ceremonies, the numbers of which were:

Organization Talk, Hugh J. Bratley.

Christmas Carol Songs by cotelette composed of the Misses Mary Alma Murphy, Louise Taylor, Mary Hooker, Joyce Hooker, Joyce Boardman, Geraldine Gray, Elythe Bregger and Caroline Freedlund, with H. E. Tipton at the piano.

Talks on "My Holy Royal Christmas," by George Royall, W. H. Tebrake, Dick DeHills and Spottedwood Burr.

Group singing.

Dick Leddis appeared as Santa Claus and distributed lead candy and sold White Elephant Christmas packages.

Ridenour Buys Farm

Hughes Ridenour, a war veteran of Paloknee, was a business visitor in Belle Glade Wednesday, and greeted many of his friends here. Hughes has recently purchased a fifteen acre plot over at Lake Park, which he will develop into a citrus grove of mango and avocado groves. He is an expert horticulturist, especially along the lively growing line.

Sam Cooper Early Okeelanta Pioneer Still Among The Living

L. E. Will had a pleasant Christmas surprise visit from one of his early Okeelanta-day friends, in the person of Ralph I. Garland, of Washington, D. C., where he has been a government printing office employee for years, but now retired under civil service rules. Mr. Garland, traveling by motor, with a Washington friend, came to call on what former friends he could find here.

Mr. Garland was one of the five original settlers at Okeelanta, back in the early portion of the century, where he farmed, had a fine home and one of the few tractors in the region. Although back here three years ago, he could hardly believe the expansion and importance of the Glades, as he found it on this trip, especially at South Bay.

When told by Mr. Will that Samuel R. Cooper, another of the original Okeelanta quintet of pioneers, was dead, he set out that report as erroneous, for he had talked to that gentleman in Washington only a day before, and he was well and hearty.

It will be recalled that a man was found along the highway out of Miami, some months ago, who was tentatively identified as Cooper, but with Garland's information at hand to substantiate that he is still alive, that identification was erroneous.

Azucar Name Is Changed to Bryant

The name of F. Edward Bryant has long been connected with the promotion of sugar in the Glades, at the pioneer that line of development. Officials of the United States Sugar Corporation have announced that they have taken an important move to see that the name is preserved for posterity, by announcing that the Azucar camp and post office will henceforth be known as Bryant, Florida. A bronze plaque will also be erected at Bryant, with a legend history of the founder, and plantation history.

Bryant was the founder of the sugar plantation at Azucar, built the first sugar mill, established two modern plantations at Azucar and Muck City, secured a negro school under the Rosenwald Foundation fund, and was instrumental in securing the government to erect its cane breeding station at Canal Point, and successfully managed the big sugar plantation from his inception until the time of his sudden death.

Burglaries Reported

Report was made to the city police Wednesday that the residence of Principal and Mrs. Frank O. Holston had been entered during the night, and the city for the Christmas holidays. It was also reported that the home of Charles Outlaw, on Turkey Island, had been stripped of its entire furnishings.

Leaves Fears Hotel

Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Walker and daughter, who spent the Christmas holidays with Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Fears, have returned to their home in Wakulla Beach, Mr. Walker for the past two months has been managing the hotel for the Fears.

Occupational Taxes Due

City Clerk A. L. Wallis has sent out notices to all business people that their 1946 occupational license taxes are now payable after January 1st. The clerk is expecting quite an increase in the number of licenses to be issued, as many more people are now interested in a varied number of new businesses.

Flowers by Air-route

N. Peet, who formerly raised gladioli crops over at Port Mayaca and South Bay, now located at Ft. Lauderdale, is now shipping his cut flowers to the eastern states by air. He has frigate airplanes. Spikes are picked in the afternoon and are flown to the markets the next day.

Hit Potatoe Jacket

Waldemar Tews has some 275 acres in potatoes, mostly planted prior to the hurricane loss of the week had "piled out" by machine some 20,000 bushels of prime potatoes from 70 acres. He was among the more fortunate growers as his lands were not so badly flooded. He also had a large supply of potatoes ready for the opening market sales and struck the jackpot for $2.75 per bushel, and says that even at the present market of $2.85 there is good return to the grower.

Army Recruiters Returning In January

During the holidays the Army recruiters sub-office here at the city hall will be closed, and will reopen on January 11. The recruiting team will hold hours of 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. every Friday afternoon. Anyone desiring information may contact the office at 704 Comau Building, West Palm Beach.

Law Invalid

The state courts have held invalid the law passed by the last Legislature permitting Dade county to consolidate all its schools into one district, owing to the fact that it gave the board too much power in a financial way. Attempt will be made to consolidate under the existing system. Glades county recently consolidated its schools into one district, and may now repeat the law, and it may now reverse its action in some other place.

Present Year Shows Progress In Belle Glade

The year 1945 has about come to an end, and a survey shows that the year as a whole has not been a bad one for the Belle Glade area. True, some losses were sustained by hurricane floods, drought and frost, but these like former losses, have been absorbed and overcome by the never-give-up spirit of our farmers and packers.

From a health standpoint, the city has escaped any serious epidemic, sustained nothing more than a normal death rate, but some fatal and serious accidents have been reported. With proposed new clinics for the crippled children, white people and negroes, the next few years should see a better medical and surgical setup, and especially for the treating of social diseases.

In view of the tightness of the rationing of lumber and the lack of building supplies, the building record approaching a half million dollars, we did not do so badly. Among the industries there was considerable work, and the new packing plants for the Borchardt Company, the Harold Rabin Company, the American Fruit Growers, and the Florida Pre-Cooling Company, and remodeling.

Look at Sugar Coupons

OPA calls attention to the fact that sugar stamp No. 38 in ration books will expire with the end of the old year, and that stamp No. 39 will be good with the coming of the New Year. With sugar as scarce and hard to obtain, it behooves the consumer to use up that old 38 coupon, and not permit it to go unused. Look through your ration book and see if you still have one of the precious coupons.

Another Powerful Insecticide Announced

The Department of Agriculture at Washington, and thru its office at Gainesville, has announced the discovery and release of another new potent insecticide.

Office Changes

By action of the County Commissioners, authorization was given for the remodeling of the county sheriff's office, which position our own John Kirk holds. The office will get a real face lifting job done to it.

Builds New Sidewalk

The city has completed the installation of a stretch of five feet sidewalk from the Mulbach store to the intersection of Fourth street, SW, and Avenue A. No longer will it be necessary for pedestrians to wade thru water and trash. There is room for plenty more of this City Dads have started.

Cured Meats Scarce

Most market men report that they are having difficulty in securing smoked meats, such as bacon, hams and fresh salted "white meat." What is coming in, in dribsles, is of the Georgia type. Lots of people are missing this type of meat on their tables, and think of it, no flavoring off their collards, turn greens and baked beans, or no greasing for their grits and morning pan cakes!

YEAR FOR DOING!

Teachers Demand Relief in Crowded School Rooms

The County Board of Public Instruction at its meeting on Tuesday of last week, received a petition from the Glades teachers' Association asking that additional teachers be provided to aid in caring for the overload of pupils in many of the grades. A normal class room grade is placed at 25 children, while at present from 35 to 43 are being handled in some of the rooms.

Former Farmer Sells Land

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Williams, who for many years have been prominent residents of Glades county, and operators of large farm areas, have sold all their land possessions and have gone to Lakeland to make their future home. Williams formerly owned a vast farm southeast of Moore Haven, which he sold to the Stockley joining interests.

Negro 106 Years Old Dies From Burns

Tom Connor, who claimed to be the oldest resident of Glades county, and to have been born in 1840 in the Carolinas, died from burns received while lighting a gasoline stove.

Gets Blooded Pigs

Ruby Whitlock, who activates a riding in police work, does considerable farming, is now taking on a new line of business, and that is the raising of registered pigs. He recently purchased two gilts and a boar from different breeders in Illinois, and he is now raising them on his farm south of town.

Stop Light Installed

To cut down the danger of accidents a stop light has been installed by the City at the intersection of Main Street and Avenue E. This has been one of the most dangerous intersections in the city and many near accidents have developed as a result of the congested traffic at that point.

Negro Mistake Jail For Dredge

Police court did a good business on Monday and Wednesday night, as around 75 offenders had been gathered before the police in that period. One amusing negro who worked on the hydraulic dredge, got an edge on and thought the city jail was his boat, only to find that he was in the city bathtub. When arrested by Mayor Taylor, he certainly earned a few minutes of great merriment by his funny remarks. Edwards held the rank of tug sergeant in the Army Air Corps and served 14 months on Suipian. He holds the good conduct medal, Pre-Pear Harbor ribbon and Pacific theater with three battle stars.

Dredge Working Down Canal

The big section dredge working on the new Lake road improvement has completed the canal. Another two weeks will likely see the big dredge pouring the overburden quick soil and rock from the old right of way onto the high school land enclosure.

Nationally Known Stunt Men To Show Here Sunday Afternoon

Speed Alford, who for years did stunts for Hollywood studios which the ordinary person doesn't consider sane, such as driving automobiles off steep hills or into streams, in front of trains or in head-on collisions, will do some of his favorite acts Sunday afternoon at the Belle Glade Airport.

Large Assembly Attended Park Christmas Event

That was a magnificent and joyous assemblage of Belle Glade people which gathered at the Recreational Park, Christmas eve, for the celebration of the Christmas event. If one spirit, they were all one before they left, for it was one of the best and most impressive celebrations ever recorded anywhere in the Glades.

The preparations were under the management of a joint committee from the Recreational Council and the PTA, assisted by groups of school children, and an orchid is due to each and every one who is in the program presented.

The scenery of the locality was all of a Christmas nature, and some very pretty Yuletide effects were presented, and of course the brightly illuminated Christmas tree caught the eyes of young and old alike.

For reasons, mainly the nature of the program, no Santa Claus appeared, but even in his absence, each person present was given a Christmas treat of candy, fruit and nuts, which the good old saint had directed.

Reports No Car Movement On Christmas Day

Celery and Beans Provide Bulk of Shipments for The Past Week

Weather prevailing the past week has been most favorable for growing crops, and the newly planted beans are making rapid progress to their ultimate maturity.

Owing to the fact that the big northern markets were closed for the Christmas holiday, and a bit of a slump prior to and after the holiday, tended to cut down vegetable buying and forwarding somewhat the past week, although a good volume of produce went out by both rail and truck.

Prices prevailing on vegetables in Belle Glade the past week were quoted as follows: Cabbage, 50 pound sack, $1.20; radishes, 16 quart containers, 70 cents; white squash, basket, $2.25; egg plant, 15 lb. sack, $2.25; Chinese cabbage, 8-12 stock, 75 cents; leaf lettuce, basket, $1.20; cress, hamper, $1.25; celery, crate, $3.50 up; beans from $2.50 to ceiling, per hamper.

A recent government survey has been released, which cites the fact that in the area including Miami, Hendry, Glades and Palm Beach counties there are 2000 square miles of which 115,000 acres are now devoted to agriculture, and of which 195,000 acres will be increased to around 200,000 acres. In this area for the past year, there are now more than 125,000 which brings an added market field for increased farm products.

While the north has been suffering in frigidity, here in central Florida fine weather has prevailed and crops have escaped an serious damage, as no killing frosts have been reported.

When digging is going on at a rapid pace, many of the larger farmers using mechanical diggers, and the labor wages at this time run from $5 to $15 a day.

The car movement over prepared each week by I. E. Hamilton shows a strange thing this week and that was that not a car of produce moved out of the Glades region on Christmas day, a record not known for many years.

Celery, potatoes and mixed vegetables lead the list of shipments for the week ending December 24. The car movement consisted of 40 cars were forwarded from the north section and 140 from the south end, or a total for the week of 180 cars. The season total of three less than 1700 cars.

The car movement was down a bit the past week, but an estimated cargo movement of about 100 trucks went out.

Find Site Suitable

The City Commission held a brief session Wednesday night. Report was made that crews of police court offenders had been set to work in cleaning out the Government house section in the southeast portion of the city.

Also that the water works lands provided ample room for the proposed new city service station, and the land is now being cleaned up for that improvement. Steps were also taken to procure a number of new street lights to be placed in needed spots.

No Longer Academic

During the decade preceding the war, a remorseless political campaign was waged against the electric industry. The objective was socialism. The war diverted public attention from the campaign temporarily. But it is out in the open again. The objective is the same. An editorial in a leading financial publication observes:

"We return, then, to the unmistakable signs that a semi-government . . . war on the private power industry is to be renewed. It cannot but be destructive of the general welfare . . . It will be essentially a fight on behalf of a collectivist economy and against a system based on private ownership and management. Such a struggle is wholly unnecessary, either for the utilization of the country's natural resources or the protection of consumers from unreasonable charges. Power generated and distributed through public ownership is not cheap power; it is made to look cheap only through the use of government capital and the huge disparity between taxation of privately-owned companies and the sums paid 'in lieu of taxes' by the publicly-owned. This disparity, incidentally, is a part of the undermining of government credit which collectivism works while that credit still necessarily rests upon the earning power of private enterprise."

Whether we realize it or not, the country can no longer afford the luxury of permitting political minorities to seek destruction of basic industries that pay a large part of the cost of government. Five or ten years ago the question of tax exemption of government business enterprises was academic. Today it can mean the difference between solvency and bankruptcy of the nation.

CINEMATIC CHATTER

By Malcolm Miller
 Alexis Smith, one of the most popular actresses of the screen, has the feminine touch with the ever popular radio star Jack Benny . . . and of course "Rochester" Eddie Anderson, in the Sunday-Monday offering at the Everglades Theatre, which happens to be "The Horn Blows at Midnight."

This is one of the cleverest comedies Warner Brothers have made, which, of course, is obvious when one sees Jack Benny in it heavily.

An excellent cast of featured players have been provided for the story, a "can't miss" story of one of Hollywood's best directors. So relax children and get ready for some nice slow burners at your Everglades Theatre with Jack Benny and his crew.

Tuesday-Wednesday brings Turhan Bey, a rapidly rising young star, and Suzanna Foster, lovely and clever, starring in "Frisco Kid." This is a story of a very mysterious man, an episode in his life that packed enough thrills for a lifetime in a very small space of time. You'll enjoy it.

On the same program comes Leon Errol and Elizabeth Risden in one of the funniest domestic comedies you can picture. The picture is "Mamma Loves Papa" . . . but she doesn't. In this one Leon gets in a lovely jam . . . but he does get out of it, after you have nearly laughed yourself to death.

Thursday-Friday "I hope, I hope, I hope" Al Pierce and Dale Evans bring you a story with music with the title "Hitchhiking to Happiness," which is a very pretty little story and gives Al Pierce ample opportunity to exercise his talents, to your delight.

On the same program is a beautiful show, in Technicolor, under the title "Sudan" and starring Maria Montez and Jon Hall and a huge cast of Hollywood featured players and lovely dancing girls.

"Sudan" is a well story by a well recognized author and I know you'll enjoy every moment of it.

Saturday brings The Three Musketeers in "Law Men." This title one gathers that this is going to be an action show, and you make no mistake with such a guess, for it really is loaded for bear.

On the thirty a Happy New Year with men being drawn close in understanding, justice and love.

OBSERVATIONS

 duction, labor took a big loss. But owing to the high price of living, and no let down in labor, labor generally has been demanding an increased wage to meet the conditions. This has brought on cases of strikes and stoppages of industry all over the land, and the outcome is yet to be written for history.

Our national census bureau told the world that in the past five years our population had advanced over 5,000,000 and that we are now a one hundred and forty million people, making us a most powerful nation from a population standpoint.

While expenses have been high, yet wages have been very good, and in the bonds and bank accounts many citizens have laid away good compensations for after work day lives, and can take life more or less easy and comfortable.

We might go on and name many more facts of the old year, but let the above suffice. To the New Year we say "Welcome, and do our best for us."

Records show that the waters of Lake Okechobee, which were so high after the hurricane storms, have receded to the 16.80 level, where the Government engineers are keeping it stationary.

Going over the records at the City Hall the writer found that the clerk, with Commission permission, had issued 24 beer and wine licenses for operation of places over in colored town, and one more pending. If all the dealers make a living out of this business, it would indicate that there must be a whole lot of these beverages used in a year. If a fellow gets kicked out of one place it is not hard to find another joint.

"There is nothing that brings more joy, pleasure and satisfaction than to have friends who are dependable, whose words are as true as though graven on tablets of stone. A dependable man of this nature is honest, just, fair, and, what is also a fact, he is held in the highest esteem by all who know him and is loved by his personal friends." The above is a quotation from an address made by John Cowles, supreme commander of the Scottish Rite of the Masonic order, and is worthy of consideration at the start of a new year, so that we may qualify in conformity to the definition of a friend.

Have been trekking around the packing plants and notice how great is the amount of waste from celery in particular. Was told that 40 per cent of a celery stalk is roughage and good only for field fertilization or feeding to some extent to pigs. Celery is reported as containing a certain percentage of precious vitamins, and it seems that some one could and should invent a process in which these broken stems could be dehydrated for soups, and for the previous vitamin juices. If any one should work out this problem, and it becomes a success, the Observer is just asking them to cut him in on the profits, regardless whether or not it be a new or old suggestion.

To know how to do a thing and do it well often brings return to the party, and that is true about young Joe Cherry. Joe Cherry and played fine football and that caused him to be in the rich Glades mudlands.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS . . .

STEVE: "How was the hospital dinner, Judge? Sorry I couldn't get there."

OLD JUDGE: "Very interesting, Steve. One of the doctors on the staff read a paper on the research work that is going on at one of the big universities where they are studying chronic alcoholism."

STEVE: "I'd like to have heard that, Judge."

OLD JUDGE: "He pointed out that approximately 95% of the people who drink do so sensibly. Only 5% abuse the privilege occasionally and included in that 5% is the very small number known as alcoholics. A doctor quoted a doctor from a university who said 'Alcoholics are sick persons and, if treated as such, may be cured.'"

Alcoholism, he said, is not caused by alcohol but by deep-seated emotional derangements which can be prevented by education and often cured through modern psychology."

STEVE: "That's the most sensible approach to the problem I've heard."

South Bay School last Sunday night at 8 o'clock.

The first half of the program was presented as a song-parade, "Christmas is Christ," with the story of the nativity charted against a background of familiar Christmas carols by the Junior High School Chorus, with each elementary grade contributing one carol.

The second half of the program consisted of a group of the less familiar old English carols centered around the yuletide festivities, with some of the children's carols of Santa Claus. This part of the program was called, "Christmas is Festivity," and each grade contributed to it.

Between the two sections two of the band students, Doris Martin and Inez Register, played a clarinet duet, "O Little Town of Bethlehem."

After the program, Santa Claus appeared and presented each one attending with a gift of candy and fruit.

PARRISH-PHILLIPS

An impressive double ring ceremony performed at the First Baptist church Sunday morning, united Miss Allene Phillips, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Twigg Phillips and James Garrison Parrish. The service was read by the Rev. I. E. Eglow.

The bride was attired in a beautiful white wedding gown with train and finger length veil of illusion. Her only ornament being a double strand of pearls, and she carried a shabby bouquet of white carnations and tube roses. Mrs. Allene Phillips was matron of honor and wore powder blue marquette with white accessories and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Billy Taylor was best man.

During the ceremony, Mrs. Dorothea Jones sang "I Love You Truly" accompanied by Mrs. J. W. Rashley, who also played the wedding march. A wedding breakfast was served at Bell's restaurant, and the couple left immediately on a trip to north Florida. They will make their home here where Mr. Parrish holds the position of chief of police.

LARGE ASSEMBLY

(Continued from Page 1) should be distributed. There was many a story-eyed, happy kid in that big crowd, who went away fully believing that there is a Santa Claus.

The tree was termed "The Tree of Life," and was purely a children's tree, for the children of Miss Gillman's recreational groups had hand-made the decorations and trimmed the tree, and they just took possession of the plat around its shanty and well-lit space. A very gracious act, much appreciated, was the volunteer placing of a loud speaker outfit by Mr. Rosen-dahl, skating rink man, so that the program could be broadcast. The program of the evening consisted of carol singing, lead by the combined choir of the Baptist and Community Methodist churches, and it was with lusty voices that many of the favorite Christmas songs were rendered.

The treat committee handed out close to 500 bags and also sent out a number to children who were ill or unable to attend, so that a most generous distribution of Christmas reminders was recorded. The city and civic clubs had placed funds in the hands of the Salvation Army, with which to provide families of its selection with Christmas baskets and gifts, around 200 such donations being presented. All in all, Belle Glade had a most wonderful and delightful Christmas celebration.

PRESENT YEAR

Our schools have thrived and flourished with a large increase in enrollment, and addition to faculty staff, a fine $30,000 athletic field, and much new equipment for school operation.

Our churches all have had successful years, both in increase in attendance, accession of new members, and record-breaking financial reports.

Our business men have had no complaint about their trade, for it has been uniformly good.

Our City Commission has taken no back seat for through that body's efforts and support of the citizens, a fine new water treating plant is under construction, in order that we might have an ample and healthy supply of pure lake water. They have made plans for many other city improvements looking to a better police and fire department and some day a sewage disposal plant and sanitary sewer system.

The woeful condition of some of our streets remains one of the doleful things of the year, but plans in view will tend to remedy this defect.

Our sister town of South Bay, likewise has had an expansion that is most creditable, with many new business buildings and retail places, parking house improvements and expansions.

The State is also giving us improvement that has long been desired, and that is the $200,000 highway leading to the packing house center. Yes, we also got a new road leading to the football field and school property.

The Experimental Station, so important to this farming, also came out of the frugal to the opulent stage so far as state appropriations was concerned, for the Legislature gave us nearly a half million dollars for building improvements and the carrying on of the important work of the station.

With the looming up of the market for farm machinery, many farmers have purchased much needed equipment. Farms have been expanded, and many improvements leading into the millions are on the future program.

To this body of men, whose names are officially signed below, have been given the duty of administration of the affairs of the

City of Belle Glade

As a body and individuals we are attempting to face and plan to effectually carry out the duties assigned us in this public trust.

Our best judgment will be utilized in reaching all final action in connection with city business and public improvements that may need our official action and recommendations.

The joint bodies, (the old and new commission) have made many changes looking forward to the improvement in administration procedures which we plan to make substantial savings, later to be applied to, for more and better service and facilities for the city.

Our Police and Fire Departments are now amply and ably manned, and each department is showing most satisfactory returns, substantiating the wisdom of added expense to obtain and maintain these departments.

PATIENCE is the one word we desire the public to carry in mind, until we can provide a number of new and pending projects such as a pure city water supply, a sewer disposal plant, a city-owned and operated service station and machine shop, an auto inspection bureau, a parking meter system, an enlarged city jail, water main extensions, more street lights, better parks, and a general tidying-up of the entire city.

All these improvements and projects will be provided as soon as the law, finances and building supplies will permit. A town which jumps from a village to a city classification in a few years, cannot provide every need in a moment.

Along with this message we desire to express to all our wish for a

Lake Harbor Improvement

Ted Daniels, who recently purchased the Hector Supply Company warehouse at Lake Harbor, is remodeling the rear of the building into temporary living quarters for himself and family.

In the rear of the warehouse on a lot formerly occupied by the Merriam dwelling, and adjoining lots, he plans to build several double lumber sheds, with driveways leading through the sheds to the street. The last shed will have sand and gravel bins, which will be served by a crane with a 25-foot boom for loading and unloading. The main building will have space for building materials and supplies. The plant, when completed, will cover a space by 200 feet with railroad siding on the west side of the building and the street on the east. This will be the largest lumber yard in the Glades and will supply business at this end of Lake Okechobee.

Builds Canal Road

Louis Weiman, who is interested in two sections of farming tracts south of Lake Harbor, has just completed raising the road grade to 17 feet for a distance of two and one-half miles south of Lake Harbor on the west side of the Miami Canal. and even to 18 feet during a prolonged wind tide. The work of raising the road grade and top surfacing with gravel was done with county equipment, four trucks, graders, etc., being furnished by the county road department. The work was started immediately after the September hurricanes, fills being made across all holes and low places. Pumps were used to keep off surplus water during the building of each section of the road.
